Why it matters. A board session on AI without a pre-session note turns into a presentation; a session without a note of conclusions depends on the memory of those present. The pre-session note tells directors what they will be asked and what decision will be requested of them; the note of conclusions records the priority spheres, the position on people, what was decided and what was assigned, with an owner and a date, and feeds the register of decisions and recommendations (P69). Without them, the session ends with "we will look into it".

Instructions for use

Aspect	Guidance
When it is used	At the first working session with the board on AI (60-minute script in 61 §8, before C1 or as the opening of C2) and, with the variant in section 5.2, at C4 oversight sessions (61 §8.5).
Who completes it	The presenter (senior management, chair of the AI Committee or AI Office) drafts the pre-session note and the note of conclusions; the board secretariat circulates it and records what was decided.
Who verifies it	The chair of the board or of the board committee reviews the pre-session note before it is circulated; the director or adviser with AI experience may review it if commissioned to do so (91 §4.5).
Who decides or approves	The board or its board committee decides at the session. The note of conclusions does not replace the minutes (P39), which the body approves in accordance with its regulations.
Stage or point	Before C1 or opening of C2 (first session); C4 (oversight). Circulation one week before; conclusions within 2 working days; recording within 5 working days.
Tool	T16 · Portfolio sphere map and T17 · Board AI dashboard as session material; T18 · Board recommendations register for what is decided and assigned.
Reference document	Document 61 (§4 response formats, §6 questions per sphere, §8 script); document 60 (pack); document 62 (register).
Lite versus Enterprise	The same in both. At Lite the pre-session note may be one page.

Completion rules:

- The pre-session note is at most two pages long and ends with the decision that will be requested at the end of the session.
- Every question from the board ends up in the register: if it is not answered at the session, it becomes a recommendation or assignment with an owner and a date (61 §2, principle 6).
- Every decision is expressed in one of the four formats: "Yes", "Yes, with one condition: ...", "Not yet, because ... is missing" or "No, because ...". "It depends" is not recorded.
- Business language: the table in 61 §3.2 applies; no untranslated technical jargon and no comparison with the market without a source.
- Examples from the company itself are preferable; if there are none, fictitious examples marked as such are used.

Preparation

When	What (61 §8.2)	Who	Planned date	Done (Yes · No)
Two or three weeks before	Short interviews with the chair, the chair of the board committee and senior business, technology and risk management. Preliminary inventory of AI systems.	The presenter, with the AI Office if there is one

One week before	Circulation of the pre-session note (section 4).	Board secretariat

04

Pre-session note (two pages at most)

Field	Content	Guidance
Session objective		One or two sentences. Example: "Position the company on the impact map and decide whether to commission the diagnosis and the governance structure within ninety days".
Why it is a board matter		Risk, opportunity, accountability and competitive advantage, in three or four lines.
The nine spheres		Where value is created (01–04), enablers (05–07), boundaries (08) and meta-sphere (09), in a short table or with the sphere graphic component.
The three ambition levels		Optimise, Augment and Transform: three types of bet with different cost, risk, time frame and organisational resistance, not a ladder.
Preliminary situation of the company		What is known today: preliminary inventory, known use cases by sphere and level. What is not known is stated as no data.
Reference questions		Those for the spheres to be covered (61 §6), in particular the one for each block of the script.
What the board will be asked		The final decision, worded so that it can be approved or rejected. Example: "Do we commission the diagnosis and the governance structure within ninety days?".
What directors are asked to do before the session		For example, note the two or three spheres that concern them most.
Supporting material		Sphere map (T16), dashboard (T17) or pack (P67); annexes are not presented in session.

(illustrative example) Preliminary situation: "14 AI systems have been identified, 9 of them from suppliers; none has been classified with legal judgement. All known use cases are Optimise in spheres 01 and 04. There is no data on validated value."

Agenda and script

5.1 First session (61 §8.3)

Block	Minutes	Objective	Question for the board	Material	Owner	Outcome noted at the session
01 · Strategic framing	0–10	Position AI as a business issue and present the impact map.	Which two or three spheres concern you most today?	Sphere component; ambition levels (00 §4.1)
02 · Spheres where value is created	10–22	See where the company's AI is today and where it could be.	Are we using AI to protect the current product or to build the next one?	Map of the portfolio by sphere and level
03 · Enabler spheres	22–32	Diagnose real capability in data, knowledge and decision.	What does AI decide alone, what requires human validation and what is never delegated?	Interview findings; inventory with autonomy A0–A3 if known
04 · Regulation, ethics and accountability	32–42	Find out whether the company governs proactively or reactively.	Do we govern proactively or do we wait for the regulator to force us?	Summary regulatory mapping with consultation date (document 34)
05 · Position on people	42–50	Obtain an explicit position from the board.	Will AI replace, augment or reorganise people's work?	Roles of recipients, subjects and promoters
06 · AI governance and first 90 days	50–60	Close with a decision: mandate, owner and report-back date.	Do we commission the diagnosis and the governance structure within ninety days?	90-day plan (01 §5.3; document 90)

5.2 Variant for oversight sessions (61 §8.5)
